BRITISH FLIERS HOP FOR U. S.

Today

A Wall of Water.
One Million for Two Fists.
To Impress Other Nations.
Money Helps Science.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.]

TENS of thousands are homeless in Japan, their homes swept away by the typhoon and tidal wave, and thousands are dead. The disaster, as described by eye witnesses, was literally awful.

First came a heavy rumbling sound from the ocean, in the midst of a dreadful windstorm. Then a wall of water, ten feet high, rolled in from the sea, sweeping houses, cattle and men before it, and washing fishing boats up into the rice fields. Air-planes surveying the disaster report great rice areas covered by the sea.

AT almost the same time, a tidal wave twenty-five feet high, accompanied, perhaps caused by a terrific gale, swept the west coast of Mexico. Telegraph and telephone poles and wires are washed away, and no details have been received of this calamity near home. It is conceivable that a great earthquake, at the bottom of the Pacific may have caused disaster on either side of the oceans.

IT was reported in New York yesterday that one million dollars have already been paid to Tunney as an advance on his fight receipts—the idea being to thwart gentlemen anxious to attach his share of the money for alleged claims.

Tunney enlisted in the Marines "for a chance to fight," never having done any boxing before he went to France. He little thought that boxing for sport, on Uncle Sam's payroll, at $30 a month would enable him later to make more than a million dollars in a few minutes.

MAYOR WALKER of New York, who contemplates the Venetian canals and says "Henry Ford couldn't make a living in this town," is mistaken. Ingenious minds adapt themselves to circumstances. If all our streets had been water Ford would have built fifteen million power boats instead of fifteen million automobiles.

FORD proves his powers of adaptation by suddenly abandoning an automobile of which he has sold 15,000,000 copies, to create an entirely new car, adding 78 per cent to his River Rouge plant, building new factory extensions costing $22,000,000 to provide production of 12,000 new cars a day.

An automobile fight is coming, and when the dust settles you will find all these that understand the automobile business selling more cars than they ever sold.

With big wages and prosperity, the two car man and the four-car family are increasing. Thirty million new cars will take the places of twenty-two million old cars now running in the United States.

DR. MEES, who directs Mr. Eastman's scientific laboratories in Rochester, says science will end war by making it too deadly and too expensive.

Another force greater than science in our civilization is working to end war, and that force is ORGANIZED MONEY. Money has discovered that war kills more dollars than men, that it creates heavy income taxes, and other troubles. Organized money knows that future wars would result, at the very start, in confiscation of capital to meet expenses. Organized money, which usually gets what it wants, doesn't want war, a cheerful fact.

Thousands Line Quay as Great Liner Leviathan Arrives in Harbor of Cherbourg.

OHIO BAND PLAYS 'GANG'S ALL HERE'

Prefect of Manche Department Officially Welcomes American Visitors, and General Pershing Replies.

PARIS, Sept. 16.—The American Legion was officially welcomed to Paris today.

Upon the arrival of General John J. Pershing, commander-in-chief of the American expeditionary forces during the war, from Cherbourg, where he arrived this morning aboard the S. S. Leviathan, Minister of War Painleve extended the official welcome of the government of France.

BY GEORGE R. HOLMES. CHERBOURG, France, Sept. 16.—The S. S. Leviathan, bearing more than 1,000 joyous members of the American Legion to Paris for the convention of that organization, arrived in the harbor of Cherbourg at 4 o'clock this morning.

Soldier Boys Disembark. Screaming sirens and whistles, a cordon of six French cruisers and circle of French seaplanes greeted the great liner as it steamed into the harbor. Four hours later, the Leviathan dropped anchor and the headquarters staff of the Legion stepped off the liner onto a waiting tender.

The second invasion of the A. E. F. had begun. Despite the early hour, thousands of persons lined the quay as the legionnaires stepped ashore. Two French destroyers and the United States cruiser Detroit swung at anchor nearby, gayly beflagged in honor of the visiting legionnaires, while bands played the Marseillaise and the Star Spangled Banner.

Sailors lining the deck-rails of the vessels cheered a welcome to the visiting legionnaires.

The headquarters staff left the Leviathan at 8 o'clock, and the legionnaires began to disembark soon after. Pershing Addresses Yanks. Before the legionnaires disembarked from the Leviathan, they were addressed by General John J. Pershing.

"We feel we are among our own people," he said. "We are not coming among strangers, but coming to greet old friends and recall olden days that saw us stand together in the greatest task to which we were ever sent."

On the way to the quay aboard a tender the "Forty and Eight" band of (Continued on Page 10, Column 3)

MAN EXECUTED FOR KILLING IN 'POKER' HOLD-UP

Raymond C. Davis is Electrocuted at Eddyville, Ky.

TWO-YEAR FIGHT

Slayer Claimed he Was "Victim of Circumstances."

FRANKFORT, Ky., Sept. 16.—Raymond C. Davis, of Eddyville, Ky., formerly of Toledo, O., went to his death in the electric chair at state prison at Eddyville, early today, paying the penalty for the slaying of William N. Fant, during a poker game holdup in Lexington, on Christmas eve, 1925.

Appeals for clemency to Governor W. J. Fields were fruitless, and Davis still contending that he was a "victim of circumstances," went to the chair unassisted at 12:28 o'clock this morning. He was pronounced dead two minutes later.

Roger Brannon, of Hamilton, O., paid the death penalty for the same killing March 18, 1926.

Fant was slain when he grappled with Davis as the latter, together with Brannon, entered a hotel room in Lexington, and ordered a number of men playing poker to "hold up their hands." During the struggle, a pistol was fired, and Fant fell dead. Davis had contended that he did not shoot Fant.

Davis made no statement, but carried out his announced intention of going to the chair with a smile on his lips.

2 DIE, 1 BURNED IN "GAS" BLAST

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 16.—William Klinkert, 2, and his sister, Mildred, 5, are dead here today, and their brother Walter, 16, is in a serious condition in Grant hospital of burns sustained Thursday night when Walter struck a match while his mother was removing gasoline from one automobile to another. Mrs. Klinkert, and her daughter, Mrs. Margaret Carson, were not injured.

According to Mrs. Klinkert, the little children sat at the side of a small roadster watching the women removing the gasoline from the tank petcock under one of the machines.

Walter struck a match, which ignited fumes, it is thought, and spread to the container beneath the tank. The ensuing explosion spread the flaming fluid upon the children. The children were removed to the hospital where the two younger ones died soon after. The women were not injured.

He made an address on the industrial situation in the United States.

DETAIN WIDOW IN MURDER AT VINELAND, N. J.

Further Mystery in Slaying of Dr. Lillendahl.

CLOTHING SEIZED

State Police Check up Woman's Story of Hold-up.

HAMMONTON, N. J., Sept. 16.—Further mystery was added today to the slaying of Dr. William Lillendahl, Vineland physician, when state police detained his widow, Margaret, 40, and began a systematic check-up of her story that her husband's murderers were two negro hold-up men.

Police said Mrs. Lillendahl had not suffered bodily injury, as they were led to believe.

Mrs. Lillendahl's request that she be permitted to return home was refused by the state troopers. Her clothing was taken for a minute examination, although the authorities declined to explain this move.

Several Negro suspects were questioned by police in connection with the crime.

Woman Is Hysterical. A detective was sent to Mt. Carmel, N. Y., today to investigate the past life of the physician. His life in Mountain Lake, N. J., also was being checked.

According to his widow's story, Dr. Lillendahl was shot by two Negroes when he attempted to rescue Mrs. Lillendahl, who told police the Negroes beat her and took her jewelry. One of the shots severed the physician's jugular vein.

Mrs. Lillendahl has been hysterical and incoherent each time she attempted.

CAPT. M'INTOSH AND HIS IRISH AIDE ON WAY ACROSS OCEAN

Plan Flight to New York and Return.

FATES DEFIED

Fokker Plane, Princess Xenia, Used in Jump From Dublin.

DUBLIN, Sept. 16.—Flinging defiance to the fates which have overwhelmed eight other trans-Atlantic fliers within the past few weeks, Captain R. H. MacIntosh and Commandant Fitzmaurice, of the Irish Free State air forces, hopped off from Baldonnel aerodrome at 12:36 o'clock today on an attempted round-trip flight from Europe to New York and return.

Head Out Over Ocean.

Two and a half hours later, the plane passed over Renmore coast guard station on the west coast of Ireland, and headed out over the North Atlantic on its long over-water jump. It was successful in the non-stop flight to New York, Capt. MacIntosh announced he would attempt a return flight to Europe, possibly with Vienna as his destination.

The fliers are using a Fokker monoplane, the Princess Xenia, which is powered with a single 550-horsepower Jupiter-Bristol nine-cylinder motor. They carried 701 gallons of gasoline, which was estimated as sufficient for 40 hours' flying.

They expect to reach New York some time early tomorrow afternoon, New York time.

Fitzmaurice is Navigator. Capt. MacIntosh is piloting the plane, while Commandant Fitzmaurice acts as navigator. The latter obtained special leave from the Free State air force in order to make the flight.

The fliers announced they will steer a direct course for Newfoundland, which will take them over the great circle route, on a course slightly south by west. If favored with good luck, the aviators thought they might possibly reach New York in 26 hours.

The Princess Xenia carries no wireless equipment. A flare pistol for signaling in case of distress, and a tiny pneumatic rubber boat, were included in the plane's equipment, however.

Direct Course for Newfoundland. "With luck, we will do it," Capt. MacIntosh declared just before the start. "We are steering a direct course for Newfoundland, and expect to reach New York in 26 hours."

"The weather reports indicate better conditions than have existed for a long time, and that is as good as we can expect."

WINDSOR PLANE OFF FOR HOME

Wood and Schiller Leave Old Orchard, Maine.

OLD ORCHARD, Me., Sept. 16.—Pilots Phil Wood and C. H. "Duke" Schiller taxied their monoplane "Royal Windsor" down the beach from Harry Jones' hangar at 9 a. m. E. D. T., and swept into the air for Windsor, Ont., on the last leg of their hop from Harbor Grace, Newfoundland.

Wood and Schiller, who gave up a plan for a Windsor-to-Windsor jump when Old Glory met an ill-fated fate, planned a southwestern route home. Skimming along at 100 miles an hour they went toward Concord, New Hampshire. From there they planned to cross the Green mountains of Vermont to Albany. From Albany the route lay over Schenectady, Syracuse, and Buffalo, where the Royal Windsor will cross the international line into Canada. The co-pilots planned to drop down on Walker's field, Windsor, Ont., at 4 p. m. daylight time.

NEW REGULATIONS IN COUNTY CORN BORER FIGHT

TRUAX LISTS COLUMBIANA IN STATE ORDER

Less Than One Per Cent Infestation In District.
ONE-YEAR DRIVE
Exemptions in Ohio River Zone are Prescribed.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 16.—New regulations, effective at once, relative to the federal-state campaign in Ohio to eradicate the corn borer, were announced late today by Charles V. Truax, state director of agriculture. The regulations, it was announced, will continue in effect next year.

Territory in which the corn borer was credited with having infested one per cent or more, of the stalks of the 1926 crop include: All townships in Fulton, Lucas, Wood, Ottawa, Sandusky, Seneca, Erie, Huron, Cuyahoga, Lake and Geauga counties, and various townships in Lorain and Ashtabula counties.

In this territory, according to the new regulations, the legal requirement for destruction of corn crop parts, remnants and residues not later than May first, does not apply to "ear" corn being stored for grain; fast corn stubble in clear corn fields which are not more than two inches in height above the ground, and corn crop parts, remnants, and residues which made into ensilage, finely shredded or finely ground, completely plowed under, burned, or trampled into sand covered with manure.

Reports on Infested Stalks.

Exemptions provided by the new regulations for Defiance, Williams, Paulding and Henry counties are: "Corn stubble cut four inches, or less in height when sowed to small grain; corn stalks and remnants, which are made into ensilage, finely shredded or finely ground, plowed under, burned, or trampled into and covered with manure; corn cobs or pieces of cobs, regardless of where found."

Territory in which the corn borer was credited with having infested less than one per cent of the stalks in clude: Wayne, Van Wert, Putnam, Allen, Hancock, Fyandot, Marion, Crawford, Morrow, Richland, Ashland, Knox, Medina, Holmes, Summit, Portage, Stark, Tuscarawas, Carroll, Harrison, Trumbull, Mahoning, Columbiana and Jefferson, and various townships in Lorain and Ashtabula counties.

Exemptions in this territory, as prescribed in the new regulations, are:

"Corn stubble cut six inches, or less in height when sowed in small grain. Corn stalks and remnants which are made into ensilage finely shredded, or finely ground, plowed under, burned, or trampled into the covered with manure. Corn cobs or pieces of cobs regardless of where found."

The regulations decree that if it is impracticable to comply with the regulation for cutting stubble, the one dealing with corn stalks and remnants should be observed in disposing of the stubble.

Definitions in Regulations.

The following definitions are contained in the new regulations:

"Burned"—shall be construed to mean the actual consumption of corn stalks, by fire, or subjection of all portions of such material to sufficient heat to kill all living borers which may be included therein. In no case shall more than 10 lineal feet per square rod be allowed to remain upon the surface.

"Special field procedure"—may include the use of special machinery, such as the stubble pulverizer and recent developments in rakes, plows for plowing equipment.

"Plowed under"—shall be construed to mean cleanly turning under the stalks and stubble over six inches in height."

EAST LIVERPOOL—AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 16, 1927.

East Liverpools Dahlia Exhibition

Emphasizing the beauty of flowers, the East Liverpool Dahlia society, an organization of amateur growers whose civic pride is evidenced by their many hours of labor in their home yards, will stage its second annual exhibition in the Trotter-Chevrolet building, Market street, next Friday and Saturday evenings.

More than 1,000 blooms, grown by the members of the society, as well as scores of exhibits by non-members, will be shown during the two-day display which is expected to attract all lovers of flora. Premiums will be offered for various classes of blooms as well as for the best, largest and smallest dahlias. And, too, a special award will be made for floral exhibits by ladies. Under the rules of the society, no blooms shall be exhibited unless grown by the person making the entry.

Judging from the interest shown by the 50 members of the society, launched two years ago, the exhibit will surpass the initial show which was a success in every sense of the term. And it should succeed, for the society has done much to encourage beautifying of lawns surrounding homes as well as creating interest in floral culture.

Beauty And Patriotism

The new "Miss America," after her crowning at Atlantic City, decides—oh, so unwillingly!—to go upon the stage.

It is announced that neither the girl nor her parents want to exploit her beauty publicly, but "for patriotic reasons" she "will engage in movie and stage work and permit the nation to see her in the bathing tights in which she won her title."

She will appear in public, her mother says, "because she possesses the title, and because she must do honor to it, and fulfil her duty to the country at large."

Prize beauties, as the record shows, are actuated by nothing if not patriotism and a lofty sense of duty in the matter of displaying their charms.

A School Cycle

School days are longer than they used to be. "Extra-curricular" activities take much time. Mothers who have hoped to be able to sit down with their daughters and teach them quietly how to do their mending before clothes are put away each week find the daughters so full of demands on their time that they finally abandon hope.

Just as Mother has begun to wonder how a girl will ever learn how to take care of a household, she finds on the list of needed school supplies, along with pencils, notebooks No. 5597 and other mysterious entries, "crowd needles 5 to 9. Thimble. Scissors. Two yards linen dish-towel."

"Sure, I have domestic science this year. No, it's not sewing, it's cooking. But we have to make our towels, headbands and aprons before we start to cook."

This sounds sensible and logical enough, but Mother still distrusts "Domestic Science" as being a frill without much substance. What do they cook?

"Why, we cook for school lunches. You know. You stayed for lunch at school one day last year and you liked it. Why don't you ever come to the P. T. A.? Then you'd know all about these things!"

Fair enough. Why not? Well, Mother wasn't much of a joiner and she was busy at home, and she never had paid any attention to the P. T. A. But the next time the school has an exhibition of work she goes. And she finds that sewing and cooking and other household arts are being taught better than she could teach them herself.

Individual teaching has to a large extent gone out of the home. But the domestic arts and sciences have not departed from educational life.

The Meteorological Spider

The spider is the true weather prophet, says William C. Brown of Macon, Mo., who enjoys some fame in his locality as a forecaster.

Last year Mr. Brown gave warning to the managers of the county fair that they were going to have bad weather during the time set for it. They went right ahead and held their fair, and it rained till they had to shut down. So this year they came humbly to Brown and asked his opinion. He told them it would be fair weather during the proposed fair week, and they went ahead. True enough, it was fine weather every day of the fair. The roads remained good and the fair made money.

How did Brown know? Well, Brown has a spider in his back yard—not any specially trained spider, but just an ordinary big, black spider that he calls Mr. Bluebeard, and when Brown wants to know about the weather, he watches that spider.

Last year it didn't do a lick of work for days before the fair. This year it was busy, before fair week, running new lines up and down the fence and out to the trees, getting ready for business. The spider never does that, says Brown, when it's going to rain. It knows what's coming for a week or 10 days ahead, and knows better than to go to the trouble of spinning a new web and have it shot to pieces by rain.

There's a hint for the weather bureau. It might add spiders to its equipment along with its barometers, hygrometers and anemometers. And every amateur interested in the weather ought to have a pet spider around in some handy corner.

The Village Half Wit—

By Fontaine Fox

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 16.—This has been called the biggest hick city in the world. The same thing has been said of New York. Also Paris. And all the darn things continue to grow. In many ways it is a strange, hybrid metropolis and there seems no way of explaining it. In baseball parlance it is "a phenom."

It is a beautiful spot but there is evidence it has not been able to step from swaddling clothes. You see men with trousers tucked in their boots and wide pampas hats jostling with dandies of the Fifth Avenue type. Leanto shacks are around the corner from magnificent office structures. Flivvers with cart-like ranch trailers are parked with gaudy limousines.

There are hotels as fine as those of New York and old fashioned inns where patrons sit at office street windows. You see as many old human misfits in an hour in Pershing Square as you see in the same length of time in front of the Cafe de la Paix.

These are, of course, superficialities but they make their distinct impression. What impresses the stranger chiefly is this easy gaiety town, with practically no manufacturing potentialities, is only a few notches from topping the census columns. It has ridden rough shod over despairing obstacles. Its optimism is sublime.

The climate is a big factor but not the deciding one in the amazing growth. A million jokes have been pulled at the expense of its "booster." They are not exaggerations. It is difficult to find a man or woman who has lived here a year—even a hardened Broadwayite—who does not turn "booster." They just can't help it.

Los Angeles, I believe, pulled itself up to national attention by its own boot-strap and offered hospitality along with its climate. This twin combination played a big part in changing it from an average sized city into a metropolis now nearing a second million.

I do not believe there is a city in America striving so earnestly to make a stranger feel at home. Los Angeles tapped the mother lode of friendliness and made it pay handsome dividends. You may call this "hokum" but you cannot laugh off its results.

The critical may yelp that because I record impressions in newspapers, Los Angeles was applying a coat of soft soap. But this is not true. I found the same cordial attitude among those who didn't know or care whether I was a real estate salesman or a book agent.

Los Angeles is a town of trick eateries. One on a prominent boulevard is shaped exactly like a derby hat and is topped by a sign "Eat in the Hat." A chicken dinner sign says: "Eat with your fingers." There are other cafes shaped like a wind mill with a revolving vane, an ice cream freezer with turning crank, Eskimo igloos dripping with papier mache icicles, a merry-go-round with revolving tables and chairs, a jail with iron bars and waiters in prison garb, a bull pen with a live bull and matadors and picadors waiting tables, and so on. Cafes have such names as The Lost Shack, The Frying Pan, The Covered Wagon, Stove Pipe Charlie's and the Barney Google. Many drug stores serve breakfast, lunch and dinner.

The policemen here are mostly farm boys with apple cheeks and an inclination to call you "Bub." They wear khaki uniforms and have a grinning cordiality. Yesterday a man in whose car I was driving stuck out his hand as a signal. The crossing cop with no effort to be funny shook his hand warmly and waved him on.

Easterners are just beginning to learn the summer climate of Los Angeles surpasses that of the winter season. It rarely rains in summer. The sun shines brightly every day and in the evening light overcoats are often necessary and blankets essential for comfortable sleeping.

Notice how naturally a writer drops into bragging about the climate the first day! You can imagine what would happen at the end of the first year.

There's been few more wonderful things durin' this epoch makin' age than King Ben, o' Benton Harbor, Michigan, becomin' a bigamist while wearin' a full page beard.

chinery, yet in almost every instance that is a proximate cause only and no accident would have happened unless preceding it there had been a mental failure or slip. In other words, about every motor vehicle accident has in its background and as its fundamental cause a failure of mind action."

The President of the Pennsylvania Motor Federation, Richard C. Halderman, agrees with the Connecticut authority and states his views in almost the same language. He says:

"There are a few standard reasons for every automobile accident, such as failure to observe the right of way rules, skidding, inattention, or poor machinery. As a matter of fact, lack of every automobile accident is the failure of one or more drivers, or a pedestrian, to think the right thing at the right time."

"Automobiles do not wreck themselves. They are under the control of their drivers. The machine's response is in direct ratio to the mental ability of the driver. That is why there are automobile accidents."

Various Kinds of Brain Failures.

There are various kinds of brain failures that swell the accident toll of the nation. A driver's mind may not react instantly in an emergency and direct his hands and feet to act promptly enough to avert catastrophe, or it may become confused and direct him to do the wrong thing, such as stepping on the gas instead of on the brake.

The driver's brain may not function properly in the matter of measuring distances and time. It may lead him to undertake something that he has neither time nor space to execute. He may think he can pass a car on a hill and get back on his side of the road before he reaches the crest, and he may fail to do so by yards and seconds and have a lovely smash with a car coming over the crest of the hill. Of course, in such an accident the first mental error was the driver's decision to pass a car on a hill when he could not be absolutely sure he was safe in so doing.

Another mental lapse that leads to many accidents is that of the road hog who decides that if he drives in a manner indicating that he owns the whole road, all other traffic will give way to him. The best thing that can happen with that kind of a driver is for him to dispute the right of way with a road roller or a five-ton truck with a cargo of stone.

Then there is the driver who always thinks he knows more than the traffic experts who put up the road signs, such as "Steep hill; drive in second."

One of these opinionated individuals was driving in high up a rather stiff grade in the Alleghenies and saw a sign warning him to shift to second gear. He ignored it, decided to shift or not shift as he thought best after he had passed the crest. He passed the crest before he realized it, and by the time he had made up his mind that he ought to shift gears the car was going so fast that he couldn't. He slammed on his brakes, the car skidded, turned around twice, and tepped

"What Price Glory" Thrills Large Crowd

Box Office Records Broken by Love Theme With War Background at Ceramic.

Judging from the crowds which taxed the capacity of the Ceramic theatre yesterday afternoon and last night, a one-week engagement is too brief for "What Price Glory," the love theme with a war background, which closes its run in East Liverpool Saturday night. Box office records have been broken by the picturization of the great stage play.

East Liverpool theatre-goers have witnessed most of the great war pictures, but "What Price Glory" is easily the headliner. The stark realism of the story told by war veterans and portrayed on the silver sheet by men who served with the allied forces in the great holocaust makes the picture extraordinary. The romance of it and its humor and pathos are certain to win any audience.

And, too, it is a stupendous production.

Some idea of the task which confronted Raoul Walsh in editing "What Price Glory" can be had from the information that the footage which was run up on the production amounted to just a little more than 100 miles. Just for one look at all the reels Walsh had to sit in the projection room for ten consecutive days of twelve hours each. When it is considered that he had to run through this footage a number of times in order to select a final version of "What Price Glory" it is easy to understand why directors must have good constitutions.

Sitting with Walsh was Salvatore A. Capodice, world war hero, who was wounded 17 times and lost a leg in the engagement of Belleau Wood, where Laurence Stallings was similarly wounded. Capodice was with the 6th Company, Fifth Regiment, U. S. Marine Corps. He was technical advisor to Walsh from the time Walsh Altman of West Fourth street, is a student at Geneva college, Beaver Falls, Pa.

Miss Catherine Brady of Steubenville is visiting her sister, Mrs. F. R. O'Hanlon, of Minerva street.

Miss Florence May Calcott of Bank street will leave tomorrow for Ohio University, Athens.

Miss Margaret Cordwin will resume her studies at Ohio university, Athens.

Miss Clara Jane Davies of Henry avenue will leave tomorrow to enter kindergarten school in Cleveland.

Miss Dorothy Cooper of Orchard Grove avenue will attend a kindergarten school in Cleveland this year.

which are bound to be scrutinized by men who fought overseas.

The elimination of material for building up the story was comparatively easy, as the Fox version of "What Price Glory" follows strictly the drama written by Laurence Stallings and Maxwell Anderson. Walsh's difficulty was to select the best of the exterior shots.

ASKS DAMAGES IN MAN'S DEATH

Frances M. Davies, administratrix of the estate of Ellis H. Davies, deceased, Toronto, seeks money damages of $25,000 from Harry Kelly, Toronto, contractor for alleged wrongful death of Davies.

The complaint is brought that Kelly had a horse drawn roller used on the roads of the Toronto Union cemetery, that it weighed about two tons. The Davies home was at the bottom of the hill near the cemetery.

About June 7, 1926, it is claimed, the defendants allowed the roller to get away and it rolled down the hill, crashing in through the rear wall of the Davies home and hurling a tile wall and other objects in the room on top of Davies, who was sleeping at the time. He died, as a result, on June 10, the complaint says. The defendants are charged with negligence in that way they are alleged to have allowed the roller to come too near the edge of an embankment.

YOUNG PEOPLE HEAR ADDRESS

Girl Evangelist Speaks at Evangelical Church.

Miss Edna Beugher, girl evangelist who is preaching this week to the congregation of the First Evangelical church here, last night addressed a large number of young people.

Choosing for her text Ruth 1-16, she said:

"Some say 'can't I attend a picture show and be a Christian?' No, if you are a Christian you will have so many things so much better that you won't have time for a picture show."

"A lot of people say the Bible is a dry book to read. The reason is that they don't know its author. When you once come to know Jesus it will become the best book in the world. Young people don't need anything in the world to hold them. What we need to do is get folks to meet Jesus, and fall in love with Jesus."

"Salvation is for the young people. There is no better companionship than Jesus. It is natural to draw the millions with that which is beautiful. There is created within the heart of every child a love for that which is beautiful. You can have your good times in the world, but remember that back of the devil's masterpiece is the devil's sting."

"The devil tries to make sin attractive, and you can only keep out of sinful pleasure as the love of Christ dwells in you. Young people have a determination not to give up. If every mother would be able to lead her own children to Jesus the whole world would be saved."

"I am keeping saved because I would rather serve Jesus than anybody else in the world. Ruth had a time of decision, a time to serve, a time to rest and a time of reward. She was in line with the ancestors of Christ."

At about 4:30 p. m. Wednesday the brakes let go on one of the large hoisting cranes at the Cherry Valley plant of the Hanna Furnace company and started down a grade. The two men who were in charge jumped and were not injured.

The large piece of machinery kept on down the tracks over the Chestnut street crossing at about 50 miles an hour. The arm of the crane caught the main cable which carries the telephone wires and tore it down, putting all the telephones of the village out of commission.

This partially checked the speed and when a more level part of the track was reached the machine stopped without leaving the tracks.

JAIL OFFICIALS LAUNCH PROBE

Beaver county jail officials are to day probing the passing of two hacks into the cell of John W. Dawson, alias "Kid" Dawson, boxer, of Wheeling, and which but for a timely tip might have resulted in a wholesale jail delivery of prisoners officials believe.

Dawson and James Riley, of Pittsburgh, were hustled to the Western penitentiary, Pittsburgh, yesterday afternoon in charge of Deputy Sheriff William V. Kennedy.

Robert Tallon of New Brighton, deputy warden, became suspicious when informed by a trusty that Dawson and Riley were heard talking about a gun. The deputy warden immediately notified Warden Marvin Wallover and Sheriff Coulter. Both Dawson, sentenced to the pen from five to ten years on a charge of breaking and entering and Riley, convicted on a similar charge, were removed from the jail.

A search of Dawson's cell revealed two hacksaws hidden under his bed. One of the bars of the cell had been tampered with.

Jail officials believe it was the intention of Dawson and Riley to have a revolver smuggled into them and when the time came to shoot their way out like John Jarowski and Charles Vashbinder recently did in the Allegheny county jail.

WEST SEEKS LABOR MEETING

Kansas City Invites Session of American Federation.

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—The Missouri Labor Press association is planning a campaign to bring the 1928 convention of the American Federation of Labor to Kansas City. Members of the executive committee of the A. F. L. believe Kansas City to be the logical site of the convention, and will urge that the "Heart of America" be selected, when the Federation meets in Los Angeles, October 3.

No little concern was manifest in a committee meeting of the Missouri association, regarding radical and communists in this state. Charles W. Fear, secretary-treasurer of the association declared, "We do not believe in the radical methods of defending the rights of labor. We advocate arbitration, mediation and conciliation in all cases of dispute between labor and capital."

Simple Home Recipe For Bad Stomach Gives Swift Relief

If you are a victim of Stomach Troubles—Gas, Sourness, Pain or Bloating—you may have quick and certain relief by following this good advice. Artificial digestants and starvation diets are seldom needed. Within reason, most folks may eat what they like, if they will keep their stomach free from souring acids that hinder or paralyze the work of digestion. And the best and easiest way to do this is to follow every meal with a little Bismarated Magnesia—a pleasant, harmless form of Magnesia that swiftly neutralizes acidity and keeps your stomach sweet and clean.

A few days' trial of Bismarated Magnesia (powder or tablets), which any good druggist can supply at trifling cost, should quickly convince you that fully 90 per cent of ordinary stomach distress is absolutely unnecessary. Try Bismarated Magnesia today!

COUNTY MOTORIST IS FATALLY BURNED IN CRASH

BLAZE TRAPS RAY HISEY, 35, COLUMBIANA

Driver Rendered Unconscious After Car Hits Pole.

DIES IN SALEM

Funeral Services Held in Home This Afternoon.

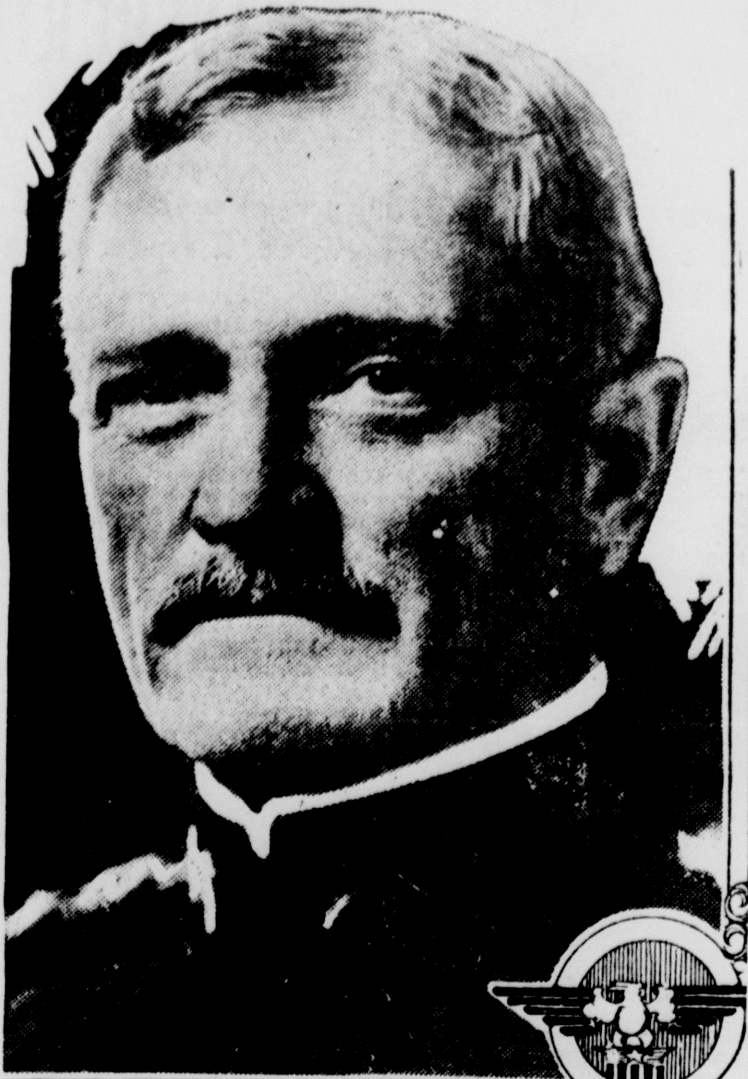

Funeral services were held in the home at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon for Ray Hisey, 35, of Columbiana, who died in the Salem City hospital of burns sustained when his automobile took fire after it was wrecked in a crash on the Middleton-New Waterford road.

Hisey, rendered unconscious when, losing control of his car, the machine struck a telephone pole, was trapped by flames. Passerby discovered the fire and rescued Hisey, but not before he had been fatally burned. He died a few minutes after being removed to the hospital.

The cause of the accident could not be learned but it is believed that he may have fallen asleep at the wheel. Hisey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eli Hisey, was born Dec. 21, 1891, at Leetonia, but had spent most of his life in Columbiana. He was an automobile painter by trade.

He is survived by his parents, one brother, Harvey of Columbiana, and one sister, Mrs. May Tolland of Cleveland.

FRANCE AGAIN ACCLAIMS HIM

General John J. Pershing.

EIGHT PLANES WILL COMPETE IN AIR DERBY

Royal Windsor Enters New York-Spokane Race.

GIRL DECLINES

Winner Will Receive $10,000; Second Pilot Gets $5,000.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Eight powerful monoplanes have entered the New York-to-Spokane non-stop derby scheduled to start next Wednesday, Captain Charles C. Collier, in charge of the event, announced today.

The entries closed last night but Captain Collier said there might be several additional entries to be reported from Spokane.

Among the planes entered for the trans-continental flight is the Royal Windsor, piloted by C. S. "Duke" Schiller, which was recently withdrawn from an attempt to fly across the Atlantic.

Efforts were made to induce Ruth Elder, 23-year-old Florida girl, who is here to make a flight to Paris, to enter, but she declined.

The winner of the New York-to-Spokane race will receive a $10,000 prize. The pilot who finishes second will get $5,000.

List of Entrants.

The list of entrants, as announced this morning, are:

1.—Cruzair monoplane by the Ryan Mechanical Monoplane company of Los Angeles. Pilot McNeel flying.

2.—Stinson-Detroit entered by the scenic airways, Detroit. J. Parker Van Zandt flying.

3.—Ald King monoplane entered by the National Airways System, Lomax, Ill. Glenn J. Romkey pilot.

4.—The Royal Windsor, piloted by C. B. Schiller.

5.—Eddie Stinson in a Detroit-Stinson.

6.—Bennett Griffith who will fly the Travelair monoplane, Oklahoma City.

7 and 8.—Two planes entered by the Mohave Engineering corporation of New Brunswick, N. J., names of pilots not yet announced.

Sponsors of the flight were pleased over the entry of Schiller and his Royal Windsor. Schiller, a Canadian air forest patrol pilot, will be accompanied by Phil Wood, brother of Gar Wood the speed boat king. Schiller's entry was regarded as giving the derby an international aspect.

Two Other Classes in Derby.

Besides the non-stop flight there are two other classes that will take part in the derby—Class A and Class B.

Class A planes will be entered in these classes. Class A, being for high-powered planes and Class B for low-powered machines.

Class A planes will depart next Tuesday morning with one passenger and two pilots and are scheduled to make an over-night at Chicago and five-minute stops at Cleveland, Aberdeen, S. D., Miles City, Mont., and Butte, Mont.

Class B planes, with one passenger, will start Monday morning, over-night stops, one at Chicago, the other at Glendive, Mont., and five-minute stops at Bellefonte, Pa.; Cleveland, N. D.; Bryan, Ohio; St. Paul, Fargo, N. D.; Billings, Mont.; and Missoula, Mont.

None of the planes in the non-stop class has as yet appeared at Roosevelt field but nine planes in the other classes are there.

DOG OWNER ASKS $50,000 DAMAGES

KENTON, O., Sept. 16.—Suit for $50,000 damages was filed in common pleas court here today by Carl C. Beatty, of Warren, O., against Henry J. Pfeiffer, of Kenton, and Holmes B. Wingo, of Mt. Vickers, sponsors of the first national field trials for coon hounds, which was held here Labor day.

Beatty alleged that he was damaged by failure of the judges to award the title and first prize to one of his two semi-finals entries, Gold Coin or Black Bees, instead of to Little Sheik, the dog which was declared winner. Little Sheik is owned by I. B. Baker, of Norwich, O.

ardor of the residents of Cherboung, who crowded close to the curbs to obtain a glimpse of the man who had led the American expeditionary forces in France in 1917.

No Hostility by Radicals.

Despite advance threats by radicals to break up the welcoming celebration, there was not the least sign of an hostile demonstration. Cherboung had become all-American for the day, and the residents spared no pains to make the visitors feel perfectly at home immediately upon their arrival.

The Legionnaires milled about the station, awaiting to hear the words "On to Paris"—the same words, uttered in different vein, that called them to France ten years ago. There were joyous renewals of friendship with familiar sights and sounds, and the residents spared no pains to make the visitors feel perfectly at home immediately upon their arrival.

CIRCUS WORKER DIES IN CRASH

CARLISLE, Pa., Sept. 16.—One man was killed and another critically injured here early today when a Cumberland Valley train struck a circus wagon hauling tentpoles to the Reading depot.

Harry Smith, 56, of Chicago, died in a hospital shortly after he was thrown from the seat of the wagon, and Thomas Reilly, of Lexington, Ky., was believed to have suffered a fractured skull.

The wagon, property of the Walter L. Main circus, had cleared the track, when the six horses pulling the load allowed the vehicle to stall and back up. The speeding train plunged through the load of poles.

OHIO TORRID WAVE CHECKED

City Enjoys Respite From Heat; Two Dead in State.

East Liverpool was today enjoying a respite from the torrid wave which has held Ohio and mid-west cities in its grip for few days.

Thermometer outside the Newell toll house yesterday afternoon registered 104 degrees in the sun, while that on the Chester bridge recorded 103. The highest figure reported at the Northside fire station was 89½ in the shade at 2 o'clock. Readings in other sections of the city during the afternoon showed 94 degrees.

No cases of heat prostrations were reported at the city hall or the hospital.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 16.—With relief promised for today, one death and four prostrations were recorded in Cleveland as a result of Thursday's heat. Benjamin Stephen, 17, was drowned at Gordon Park beach while seeking relief from the torrid wave which forced several Ohio schools to close.

Michael Jagoe, overcome while working on excavation, was reported in a serious condition, while three other men, overcome while working, were reported recovering.

NEWARK YOUTH DENIES CHARGE IN GIRL'S DEATH

Paul Davis Pleads Not Guilty to Manslaughter.

FIND NO POISON

Father of Miss Alice Claypool Files Complaint.

NEWARK, O., Sept. 16.—Paul Davis, 24, pleaded not guilty to a charge of manslaughter when arraigned here today in connection with the death of Miss Alice Claypool, 20, and was held to the grand jury under bond of $10,000.

Davis was arrested when Miss Claypool's father signed a warrant charging his daughter's death to the youth. Miss Claypool died Saturday in a hospital here. The charges are based, it is said, on allegations of an illegal operation.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 16.—Dr. Clayton Smith, pathologist at Ohio State university, today reported that there had been no discovery of poisonous matter in the organs of Alice Claypool, but pointed out that an accurate chemical analysis would require at least three more days. The girl's organs were sent here, at the request of her father.

560 NEW CASES OF PARALYSIS ARE REPORTED

Little Danger of General Epidemic, U. S. Officials Say.

DEATH TOLL CUT

Massachusetts Has Largest Number; Ohio Second.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—While infantile paralysis cases are increasing throughout the country, there is little danger of a general epidemic, officials of the United States public health service declared today.

Reports from 32 states for the week ending Sept. 10 showed that 560 new cases had been discovered, as compared with 248 cases in 42 states for the week ending Aug. 13. While this mysterious disease is undoubtedly more prevalent this year than last, public health officials pointed out that there is no approach to the mortality record of 1916, when infantile paralysis prevailed in many parts of the country and took a heavy toll of lives.

The latest records show that Massachusetts has the largest number of new cases, number 92. Ohio is close behind with 85 cases, while California registered 49 cases.

13 MEN INJURED IN $325,000 FIRE

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Sept. 16.—Two firemen were injured so seriously that they may die, eleven others were injured less seriously and damage estimated at $325,000 was done today by a fire which destroyed the building which houses the Z. Herbach Paper company.

British Fliers Hop

"This flight is not a foolhardy venture. I have taken every possible precaution. There must be a certain amount of luck to achieve success, but I believe it is possible to pay too much attention to the casualties that have resulted from trans-ocean flights. Some one must take the risks if there is to be progress."

Capt. Macintosh's flight is being backed financially by William B. Leeds, husband of Princess Xenia of Greece, in honor of whom the plane was christened.

Capt. A. J. Barnes former British army engineer and well-known air force pilot, and Capt. Wrenford, assisted Macintosh in the preparations for the flight. Originally, they had planned to accompany him.

Well Out Over Atlantic.

LONDON, Sept. 16.—At 4:20 o'clock today the trans-Atlantic plane Princess Xenia, in which Capt. R. H. Macintosh and Commandant James C. Fitzmaurice are attempting a non-stop trans-Atlantic flight, was well out over the Atlantic, bearing due west for Newfoundland.

At 3:08 o'clock the plane was sighted by the Renmore coast guard station of the west coast of Ireland, and 27 minutes later Lloyd's office at Galway, Ireland, reported that an aeroplane, presumably the Princess Xenia, had passed over South Galway, headed out to sea.

At Galway the weather was hazy, with a fine rain. A light west wind was blowing.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—The $43,000, 900 increase in the volume of brokers' loans, bringing the total up to about $4 billion dollars, induced moderate selling of industrial stocks at the beginning of trading today, and prices were somewhat mixed. But the resumption of the sweeping advances in United States Steel and a few of the other well known shares, promptly arrested the downward move of the market as a whole.

Dissatisfaction with the government's agricultural department comment on the "probable drop in cotton prices" was still in evidence in various sections of the financial district, and cotton was unable to retain the early rallies of about $1.50 a bale.

Grain prices were fractionally higher, and most of the weekly compilations showed a further slight gain in commodity prices as a whole. General Motors corporation showed the usual increases in August distribution and dealer sales of cars. Crop reports from the northwest were favorable.

NAB THREE MEN IN FATAL GUN FIGHT IN OHIO

One Railroad Detective Slain, Another Wounded.

NEGROES IN JAIL

Fatal Shooting Occurs in Railroad Yards Near Dayton.

TROY, O., Sept. 16.—Three negroes were arrested here today by Mayor Glen Fry, Tippecanoe City, in connection with the investigation of the fatal shooting of Alfred Knight, 25, and the wounding of Lester Davis, 35, Baltimore and Ohio railroad detectives.

The railroad men were shot late Thursday, by negroes, in the B. & O. railroad yards, east of Dayton, while they were checking freight cars.

Mayor Fry took his prisoners to Dayton, where Davis will be asked to identify them.

Knight was shot in the head and arm, and died soon after being admitted to the Miami Valley hospital.

Eight negro suspects are being held in the Miami county jail here. They were apprehended during the night.

BABE RUTH WINS IN COURT SUIT

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Babe Ruth scored another today—this time, however, in court.

The charge that Ruth had assaulted Bernhard Neimayer, 49, an artist, striking him a heavy blow in the eye, was dismissed by Magistrate Adolph Stern in West Side court after he had listened for two hours to a recital of the alleged attack.

A large crowd was present in court.

Drag Swamp for Revolver.

State Troopers prepared to take Mrs. Lillendahl to the scene of the murder today and have her re-enact the shooting as she has described it.

Search of the woods where the physician was killed, today brought forth the gold wrist watch Mrs. Lillendahl said was included in the loot taken by the negroes.

A swamp near the scene of the crime was to be dragged in the belief that the revolver from which the fatal shots were fired may have been thrown into it.

The posse continued their search for the negro bandits mentioned in Mrs. Lillendahl's story.

Legionnaires in FFrance

Greenville, Ohio, played the A. E. F.'s favorite songs, "Hail! Hail! the Gang's All Here," "How Dry I Am" and "Over There."

Many of the legionnaires made a wild scramble for the bar in the maritime station immediately upon reaching the quay. The bar was soon lined six deep with Americans.

Recalls Wartime Sacrifices.

The prefect of the Manche department officially welcomed the visitors in the maritime station. He expressed his honor and pleasure at greeting the legionnaires on French soil.

General Pershing spoke in reply: "It would be very difficult for you to realize the emotion that fills our hearts at the reception you have accorded us here. This occasion brings us very tender memories. I recall our arrival here ten years ago under very different circumstances."

General Pershing then recalled the wartime sacrifices of France and America.

"It was our privilege to come to your aid in your dark hour of need. Memories flood our minds this morning, memories of your people and their homes, memories of long marches, memories of rain, memories of great battles. They are more than memories, for when two peoples fight together in a common cause, their bonds become indissoluble."

Huge Signs of Welcome.

Huge signs reading "welcome American Legion; welcome to our comrades in arms" were hung throughout the city.

Crowds lining the sidewalks and cheering Legion officials on the way to city hall. Pretty French girls and aged women, whose eyes filled with tears as their memories reverted to the days of the war when husbands and sons marched off, many never to return, pelted General Pershing's automobile with flowers. The general responded to the warm welcome with smiles.

The days of ten years ago were re-enacted. Groups of children ran about the street, clutching at the legs of the Legionnaires, crying "Les Americains! Vive les Americains!"

The drum major of the Greenville band, attired in a colorful dress uniform, particularly excited the youngsters' curiosity and admiration.

Arriving at the city hall, General Pershing was welcomed by the Mayor and Cherboung. He replied to the greeting in French, and expressed his regret that he could not speak the language with greater facility in order to tell completely his appreciation of the welcome the Legionnaires had been accorded. Continuing in English, the general said:

"We are delighted to be back among friends. You know that America loves France."

Toast of Champagne.

The mayor then offered General Pershing a glass of champagne. Holding the glass aloft, the general said:

"I raise my glass and invite you to drink to the health and prosperity of the republic of France, and to the strengthening of the ties of friendship which unite France and the United States."

The glasses clinked, and the toast was drunk amid the cheers of the assembled throng.

General Pershing, Howard Savage, commander of the legion, and Vice-Admiral Burrage then signed their names in the golden book in the mayor's office in the city hall. Responding to the cheers of the throng which crowded the street in front of the building, the officers stepped out on the balcony and saluted and smiled their appreciation.

Miss Elizabeth Connell, of Wells-ville, who represented "Miss Ree," one of the finalists in the automobile style show which was won by Miss Elizabeth Riddle, of Salem, representing "Miss Pontiac," was presented with the green ensemble suit, matching the color of the car, by the Reo Motor Sales company and the New man store of East Liverpool.

No accidents marred the fair this year. Only one arrest was made during the three days, and this was an alleged automobile thief picked up by Sheriff George Wright and Deputy Sheriff Lawrence Kindsvatter for Youngstown authorities. In addition, not a single complaint was lodged with the race judges.

Unusual interest was centered in the live stock exhibits which were nearly 50 per cent greater than in former years. Cattle judging required two days, and judging of poultry a day and one-half. Heretofore all judging was done in one day.

Elect Directors Nov. 5.
More than 300 additional membership tickets were sold the last day of the fair, and with the sale of the second day the society now has 1,000 members, the largest in history.

New directors are to be elected next November between 1 to 3 o'clock, the polling places being in the county election board office in the basement of the court house. Only members of the society are permitted to vote.

On account of illness, President Frank Dickey of East Liverpool, was unable to take any active interest in the fair this year.

JAPS SOLIDIFY THEIR POSITION IN MANCHURIA

Premier Tanaka Aims to Keep Hold on

RAILWAY PRIZE

Americans and Europeans Favor Program of Colonizing.

TOKYO.—Japan's new government, under Premier Tanaka has wasted no time in solidifying this country's position in Manchuria, and there is every evidence that the Selyukai party will make Japan's hold on the Three Eastern Provinces of North China practically invulnerable before it leaves office.

Baron Shidehara, former foreign minister, played safe in Manchuria, because he feared giving offense to the Chinese. But Premier Tanaka, acting as his own foreign minister, has gone fearlessly into the business of making Manchuria an integral part of the Japanese empire, disregarding the sensitive feelings of Chinese nationalists. And up to the present time, his policy has been fully justified, because the Chinese have ignored what he is doing.

Railway Prize.
The South Manchuria railway is the agency used to extend Japan's empire into China. This railway, the prize of the Russo-Japanese war, has been developed gradually into an empire within an empire. Within its sphere of influence, it acts as a government. While this has been nominally true for some time, Premier Tanaka has decided to come out into the open, and make the railway company a government on paper as well as in fact. He has just announced a plan, devised by his legislative experts, whereby the president of the South Manchuria railway will become a consul-general of Japan. His headquarters will be at Mukden, the capital of Chang Tso-lin, and he will represent the Japanese government directly as the power behind China's throne. In this manner, Japan's sphere of influence will be extended beyond the Kwantung leased territory, where treaties give them the right of government. From this time on, a Japanese consul-general, as president of the South Manchuria railway, will be the supreme ruler in all territory controlled by the railway. It must be remembered that the railway is more than a railway, controlling rich mines, prosperous manufacturing cities and millions of acres of fertile farm land. It operates schools, from kindergartens to technical universities, and establishes courts through Japan's special rights guaranteed by treaty.

Colonizing Scheme.
At the same time, Premier Tanaka's experts are evolving a colonization company with powers equal to the South Manchurian railway, to gain further control of the rich undeveloped lands in Manchuria and Mongolia beyond the railway limits. The head of this company, too, is to be a consul-general, and will be directed in his policies by the foreign office in Tokyo. It is planned to carry the fine development work accomplished in South Manchuria into North Manchuria and Mongolia.

Most American and European authorities in the Far East are sympathetic with the Japanese in their new schemes for Manchuria and Mongolia. The Chinese overlords have shown themselves entirely incapable of decent government in these regions.

After riding to the top of Ben Lomond, Scotland, 3,000 feet high, a man disconnected some of the parts of his motorcycle and padlocked it, but when he returned the next morning he found that the machine had been stolen.

STATE COLLEGE BOARD MEETS

West Virginia university board of governors held a special meeting yesterday at Morgantown when half a dozen prospects for the presidency of the university were considered to succeed Frank Butler Trotter.

The board of governors authorized the announcement that the list of men being considered for the presidency included three or four who had been highly recommended by some of the best known educators in the country and that it anticipated no difficulty in making a selection.

The board has fixed October 15 as the date for another meeting at which time reports will be submitted on interviews with presidential prospects. It is possible that some of the men being considered may be present for an interview with the whole board at that time.

The board declined to name any of the men being considered, but said that it expected to elect the new president within the next few months and have him take office not later than next summer.

The board ordered the financial secretary's office placed under the direct supervision of C. T. Neff, Jr., secretary of the board. D. M. Willis will remain as financial secretary.

The resignation of Dr. R. G. Knight, as dean of the College of Agriculture, was accepted effective November 1. He will become head of the bureau of chemistry and soils in the federal department of agriculture. President Trotter was requested to present candidates for Dean Knight's successor at the October 15 meeting of the board.

ROAD CINDERING WORK LAUNCHED

Large force of men are engaged in cinderling the Lincoln highway stretch between Chester and the Pennsylvania state line. The contract is held by the firm of Coss & Otto of Wheeling. The road can now be traveled by motorists.

Work is progressing steadily on the improvement of the other section of the highway near Carnot, Pa.

It is expected the entire route to Pittsburgh will be thrown open to traffic by October 15.

GORE PREDICTS ROAD BOND VOTE

Governor Howard M. Gore in an address yesterday at the Lewis county fair declared that the people of the state would probably have an opportunity to vote next year to decide whether or not they wanted more improved roads.

He stated that the consumption of gasoline was increasing so rapidly that $25,000,000 of additional road bonds could be floated without increasing the rate of taxation.

over on its side. Fortunately it found the only spot level with the road that there was within a quarter of a mile, and little damage was done. However, had the car turned over ten yards further along it would have plunged down a 200-foot cliff.

Going Mentally Blind. One of the most peculiar brain failures, and one of the most fruitful of traffic accidents, has been described as "going mentally blind." It is a case of a person's not seeing that at which he is looking directly. His eyes are wide open, but do not function because his mind, for the moment, is not commanding them to function. When that happens to an automobile driver he bumps into a car ahead of him, side-swipes a car he is passing, or crashes into a car that has the right of way at an intersection. In each case he has seen the other car, but he has not seen it consciously.

Experienced golf players know only too well what it means to go mentally blind. To execute a golf shot correctly and effectively the player must see the club-head meet the ball, and to do this it is not enough to keep the eyes on the ball. A player who is off his game will discover that he is not seeing the ball at the instant of the club's impact although he is certain that his eyes are on it and that he is not moving his head or jerking it up as completes the shot. He sees the ball as he starts his swing and continues to see it until the club-head comes down. Then for a fraction of a second he becomes one of those who, seeing, see not. He goes mentally blind, and he is likely to find that it will take a deal of practicing before he re-establishes the coordination so essential to the game.

The pedestrian who has this trouble steps in front of a moving car which he actually sees but which is not registered on his mind, and then there is work for the undertaker and the coroner.

Of all the mild slips of motor vehicle drivers none, perhaps, is more inexplicable than that mental process that leads a driver to think that he can beat a train to a grade crossing or that he has anything worth while to gain in attempting it. Most traffic authorities contend that this is not a mental process, but an evidence of utter lack of mentality. However that may be, it remains a fact that there is no form of accident against which motorists are more frequently and more adequately warned and still the Vote Chiefs Call for School Board, Township Reports.

The Columbiana county election board today called upon all township and board of education clerks within the jurisdiction to submit reports on the number of board members and justices of the peace and constables to be elected in the respective districts on November 8.

This move is preliminary to the preparation of the ballots for the fall election. Contract for the ballots will be awarded at a special meeting here next Tuesday.

The East Liverpool school district is one of the few among the 43 in Columbiana county which will not vote upon proposed tax levies or bond issues.

The election board is now appointing officers in the 105 precincts of the county.

grade crossing toll increases each year.

In discussing what should be done about the problem of mental lapses, Mr. Haldeman says he believes it not beyond the range of possibility that in the near future the motor vehicle operator will be required to submit to a test which will show his mental reaction, and that state authorities will grade a driver according to his mental capacity.

This may mean, in his opinion, that drivers will be given varying maximum speeds beyond which they may not drive without being penalized.

Laughlin Blanks

Harry Grimm Victor Over Sam Herman in 2-0 Tilt at Newell

Webber Drives in First Run With Triple to Left and Scores Only Other Tally on Herbert's Sacrifice.

With both clubs playing errorless ball, the pitchers twirling smartly and at times sensational support being vouchsafed in the field, Laughlin, counting twice in one inning on a pass, triple and a sacrifice fly, blanked the Chester Superior Cords in the second clash of the City Industrial Baseball league's "baby world series" on Newell park field last evening.

The score, 2 to 0, accordingly gives both a victory and a defeat with a mutual 50 percent mark.

But five runs have thus far been made in the post season scrimmage. Laughlin having annexed three and Chester two. The first game score was 2 to 1 in favor of the rubber men. The contest scintillated with individual accomplishments. Webber drove in the first and winning run with a triple after Heckathorne had walked; Herbert sent over the plate the second one, scoring Webber with a timely sacrifice fly after a near successful working of a squeeze play when the ball went foul; Crawford and Webber retired the opposition with two men in both instance by sensational running catches.

Crawford also arrived in time to surprise Bublin at the bat on his first time up and made his fourth straight hit of the series by beating out an infield blow. He also threw out Parsons at the plate following Melchori and Scullion's single—a play that doubtless prevented certain scoring in the sixth when Chester appeared bent on annexing a tying duel of runs.

Grimm pitched careful and effective ball. He allowed but four scattered hits while fanning six and walking two.

Herman gave six safe drives. Three of these were bunched at the outset of the second, the last two of them being infield raps, yet he retired the opposition without scoring. While fielding sensationally at first where two or three one-handed catches featured his stopping of some wide infield heaves to him.

J. Evans again covered second base in fine style for Chester during Compton's inability to play.

Webber led in hitting with a triple and single in three efforts, a 667 waiting performance.

Lang handled Grimm well behind the plate where he accepted several chances and hit at a 500 clip.

Herbert also hit .500 and fielded well at third during the game.

Herman did some effective pitching in the second when he retired Laughlin with the bases full and none out. Herbert opened the period with a slashing single to middle over second. W. Watson and Crawford, who had just arrived and was batting for Bublin, beat out infield singles between Herman and Bakosh. Sayers forced Herbert at the plate, Herman to Scullion. Lang then fanned while Grimm went out, Melchori to Wilde.

The first run of the contest was made in the last of the third when Heckathorne, walking, finished on Webber's three-bagger to left. Finley struck out. Herbert sent a long fly to Parsons, scoring Webber. W. Watson then fanned.

Crandall and Ashe Back in Third Game

ONE or the other of the two City League "Baby World Series" contenders, the Chester Superior Cords or the Newell Homer Laughlins, will go ahead tomorrow afternoon when the rivals tangle at Smith Field, Chester, in the third game of the series.

The Saturday engagement will be a nine-inning affair, beginning at 3:30 o'clock and, in all probability, will find Everett Ashe, Newell strikeout king and Lefty Crandall, who has beaten the Potters in five straight starts the last half, in action on the mound.

The Laughlin club's confidence was considerably heightened last night as a result of their 2 to 0 victory over Sam Herman, the conquest evening up the series count.

Business Manager Joe Dickey today expressed himself as certain that the pennant would be strung up at Newell. "We've given Herman the bumps now," said Dickey, "and we're set to go through with the rest of the series. The Newell team played flawless ball last night and we're proud of them. The work of Crawford and Webber in the outfield especially was outstanding while Grimm came through as we confidently expected."

Back on an even footing with their bitter baseball foes as a result of their defeat, the Superior Cords mark time with a feeling of determination. Undaunted, the Tiremakers are figuring to go ahead tomorrow.

"We're going to send Lefty Crandall out there tomorrow," asserts Manager Frank Riley, "and we feel pretty sure that when he's through for the day he'll have No. 6 tucked away. We got a bad one out of our system and we're ready to go now."

However, some one has got to lose and about the only way it can be sized up now, it'll be the team with the least runs. With two good pitchers working every game it's difficult to do them before hand with breaks figuring to a big extent in the final result.

The biggest crowd of the series to date is expected out for tomorrow's game.

AT NEW YORK—Joe Glick, Brooklyn light heavyweight, won decision over Doc Snell, of Tacoma, Wash., 10 rounds.

Laura B Steps Fast to Win In 2:13 Pace

RACE events at the fair grounds Thursday afternoon were won in straight heats as on Wednesday, but in the first heat of the 2:13 pace the track record of 2:11 hung up in 1919 by Lee Grand with Joe Hall up, was all but equalled.

In this heat, Laura B, a brown mare owned by Mrs. Laura Biddleston of Youngstown, went the mile in 2:11.4, losing out Robert B, a brown gelding owned by Vance & McGeorge of Wampum, Pa., who came in second.

The crowd was given another thrill in the second heat of this race when Blau J, a brown gelding owned by J. H. Aumick of Cleveland, went ahead of the field at the half mile turn and was never headed. The horse had fourth position in this race and on a break by the pole horse walked into the lead. She won by a full length, with Robert B again trailing her. In this heat Laura B came in third, but won the third heat and the race.

There was not a spill in any of the races. In the 2:17 pace two sulkes collided during the scoring, but first were quickly adjusted and the race continued.

Carmen Hill Hangs Up 22nd Win of Season

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—The Cardinals and the Giants, who have fought each other to a Mexican stand-off in three successive double headers, meet again today in a seventh game which probably will decide who, if anybody, is going to catch the flying Pirates. The Corsairs annexed their eighth straight victory yesterday by trimming Boston again and are now 4 1-2 games in front of St. Louis and New York, who are still deadlocked for second place.

A feature of the torrid battles in St. Louis has been that rookie pitchers won where veterans failed. Yesterday Jim Faulkner, recruit from Toronto, won the first game for the Giants, 11 to 3, and Fred Frankhouse, St. Louis freshman, subdued New York in the nightcap, 8 to 5.

Bill Terry, who is on a home run rampage, hit two homers in the opener and Zach Taylor, New York's weak-hitting catcher, smacked two triples and a single. The Giants kayoed Jess Haines, but the Cards retaliated in the nightcap by routing Fred Fitzsimmons.

Carmen Hill, Pittsburgh mound ace, won his 22nd victory, holding Boston to five hits and winning a 2 to 1 duel from Bob Smith. Smoketown fans immediately began ordering their world's series ducats.

The Braves have lost twelve games in a row. The Cubs, Robins, Reds and Phillies did not play.

The Yankees failed to win their hundredth victory, losing to Cleveland, 3 to 2. Langford, Cleveland recruit, hit a homer and a double.

A double steal in which Ty Cobb participated enabled the Athletics to nose out the White Sox, 5 to 4, and sweep the series. Fox hit a homer with two on.

The Tigers broke their losing streak by outslugging Washington, 6 to 5. A home run by Harry Rice stacked the Browns to a 2 to 1 victory over the Red Sox.

Sammy Dorfman, New York featherweight, outpointed Eddie Anderson, of Wyoming, 10 rounds.

BOTH FIGHTERS SHOW IMPROVED RING FORM

Walsh Sees Gene and Jack in Action Same Day, as They Take on Sparring Mates Both Looking Good.

By Davis J. Walsh.
CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—Previous to yesterday, both men had played more rounds than they had boxed; more rounds of golf I mean. But just in a spirit of unwarranted vindictiveness toward a writer, who "seen his duty and done it," therefore riding 139 miles between the two camps, Gene Tunney and Jack Dempsey decided to box virtually at the same time but not in the same ring, not by exactly 139 miles.

This was too much. These men actually were going to don gloves and mix socially with their sparring partners. The writer, by dint of much arduous travel, was the only man who saw both of them do it.

He, therefore, can give exclusively his impression of them as they appeared just one week before their meeting for the world's heavyweight championship. Briefly, it is this: That Gene Tunney is at least as good, if not better than he was before the Philadelphia fight last year. That Jack Dempsey is a better man than he was before the Sharkey fight two months ago.

How much better he will have to be to beat a goof fighter like Tunney remains for the night of Sept. 22 to disclose. He is talking a great fight.

Figures on Knockout.
"One thing you can bet on," he said after last night's workout. "This fight won't go ten rounds. I had that happen once and it was enough. This time, they will drag one or the other of us out by the heels before it is over."

Mr. T. Rickard, the man with the open face box office, also spoke his little piece.

"You fellows," he said, "have got this feller Dempsey all wrong. That feller knows what he is doing. You expect him to box his head off at the age of 32 and leave all of his fight in the training quarters. He's too smart a feller for that."

Uhle Holds Babe to Single Blow

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Babe Ruth's chances of breaking his home run record of 59 were not quite so rosy today. Cleveland pitchers have balked him for two successive days. Yesterday George Uhle held the Bambino to a double while Lou Gehrig, Ruth's erstwhile rival, got a single.

Tilden Makes Final Stand

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 16.—Once more there looms before Rene La Coste, the French ace who is defending his American lawn tennis championship title, the same pair of Americans whom he trounced in the Davis cup matches last week. La Coste, sad and phlegmatic as always, faces Little Bill Johnston of California here this afternoon and if the fortunes of the game run true to form he will battle Big Bill Tilden for the title tomorrow.

Tilden, making a despairing effort to scale the heights of the glory that was once his alone, meets Francis T. Hunter, of the Davis cup doubles team, today. La Coste's anticipated victory over Johnston seems assured but a victory for Tilden over Hunter is by no means a certainty. In fact Big Bill has had such a thorny path to date and his playing has been so unimpressive that it would not be a great surprise should Hunter, playing steady, conservative tennis, eliminate him at the very doorsill of his goal.

POTTERS TO PLAY SHERWOOD CLUB

Potters Supply nine of the Community league will clash with the Sherwood Cardinals Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock at Sherwood.

The Potters downed Skid's Cleaners last night, 2 to 1. Sherwood also is right up at the top in the second half race and tomorrow's tilt may swing it one way or the other.

payment then but Sharkey steadfastly refused to prove it.

I would say, offhand, that some of the snap has gone out of Dempsey's left hand and nearly all of it out of his right. But that was the case at Saratoga and he looked the part of a better fighter last night. So much for Dempsey.

Tunney stepped six rounds at even-tide on the shores of Lake Villa and he looked like a real champion most of the way. His average was about $6 per cent against Billy Vidsbeck, who fought somewhat after the Dempsey manner. Tunney broke ground on occasions under the other's body attack. But, then, Tunney always was something of a ground-breaker anyhow. They went two fast rounds with Tunney ahead.

Tunney's Punch Snapper. Jackie Williams, another light heavyweight, tried to take the play-

Drugs Capture Deciding Tilt

Wise Drugs won the third and deciding game of a three-game series with the Midway Oils last night at Midway Field. The final count was 10 to 7 and the Druggists collect nine quarts of ice cream as the stake. Swatting was heavy on both sides, the Pharmacists getting 14 and the Oils 13.

away from the champion and had the merry villagers shouting "oh" and "ah," and an occasional uncouth snicker as he scored with both hands to the head. Gene finally became somewhat displeased and crossed a right to the young man's chin whisker and the young man began an involuntary black bottom. Another right had him absolutely punch blotto before Tunney forebore. Chuck Wiggins also did two rounds or something or other and they called it a day or a tea hour or whatever it was.

Unless I am greatly mistaken, which possibly would be no novelty, Tunney today was a better fighter than he was last year, faster and with a snapper punch.

That would make both of them good, which probably is impossible.

Sally's Shoulders

HER MAN "HONEY LOU" THE HOLLYWOOD GIRL ETC. by BEATRICE BURTON, Author of

SYNOPSIS:

READ THIS FIRST: SALLY JEROME, 20 and clever and pretty, is the prop and mainstay of her family in the absence of her father who has been separated from her mother for nine years. The family consists of MRS. JER-OME; the twins, BEAU and MILLIE; and Sally herself. Mrs. Jerome is a semi-invalid. So Sally does the housework mornings and works in MR. PEEVEY'S office downtown afternoons.

In the flat below the Jerome flat lives young TED SLOAN, who's in love with Sally. Mrs. Jerome is dreadfully afraid that Sally will marry him and leave her, but Sally has nothing but friendship for Ted. The only man she's interested in is JOHN NYE, who's office is across the hall from Mr. Peevey's in the Nye-Naylor building.

"I think I'll start serving Sunday dinners," Aunt Emily said.

try to make love to her, although Beau's girl, MABEL WILMOT, says Millie really is a siren and wants them to pay attention to her. Millie catches a glimpse of John Nye and promptly "falls for him." Late that same day Nye asks Sally if she knows of a stenographer to take the place of his, who has just married, and Sally tells him about Millie. But the next day he is called out of town because of his mother's illness, and Sally is greatly relieved because Beau even tries to borrow $5 from Sally, who is "flat broke." In addition, they have used up most of the food in the flat and Sally decides that the only thing she can do is to go to her AUNT EMILY, her father's sister, for some money. Now go on with the story.

CHAPTER VIII.

Whenever Sally was in great trouble she went straight to her father's sister, Miss Emily Jerome. Aunt Emily's was a quaint old house far out in the River road. It had belonged in the Jerome family for more than 50 years.

Outside it was all weather beaten clapboard and loose-hinged shutters. But within it was bright and clean, with its creamy woodwork, its gay-hooked rugs, its flowerpots and crisp muslin curtains.

Sally often said to herself that the inside of Aunt Emily's house must be very like the inside of Aunt Emily's soul—shining and white and cheerful. It always gave her a sense of peace and comfort, somehow, to turn in at the gate and start up the flagged walk to the door, with its knocker and its brass knocker.

Tonight the door stood hospitably open and beyond the wide old-fashioned hall was filled with shadows, as she walked into it.

"Yoo-hoo!" she called, and from behind the closed door of the kitchen Aunt Emily's voice answered her faintly, like an echo: "Yoo-hoo!"

Then she came with a rush to greet her and gave her a quick little pecking kiss on each cheek.

Everything that Aunt Emily did she did all of a sudden. Although she never would see 40 again, she moved about as quickly and lightly as Sally, herself. She talked briskly. And when she made up her mind to do a thing, she made it up in two minutes. Then she went ahead and did it at once and with great speed. She hated what she called "hemming and hawing" about things.

"Well, isn't this nice!" she chirped, and her black eyes seemed to snap a welcome to her niece. "I was just going to sit down to supper all by myself, and I surely do dislike to eat alone!"

"Where are Roxy and Mary?" asked Sally, following Aunt Emily out to the neat blue-and-white kitchen. Roxy and Mary Muldoon were two sisters who had been "paying guests" in Aunt Emily's house for years. Like her, they were school teachers of uncertain age.

"Oh, they've gone home for a visit before school opens," answered Aunt Emily, opening the oven door and taking out a pan of golden-brown Parker house rolls.

She emptied them out upon a clean tea towel, and flew into the pantry for a pitcher of iced tea and some cold fried chicken on a blue platter.

"I'm awfully glad you happened out here tonight, Sally," she said, pouring the tea into two tall amber glasses and decorating them with sprigs of fresh mint. "I wanted to talk to you about a scheme of mine. If you hadn't dropped in, I was going to call you up at the office tomorrow."

Aunt Emily hardly ever went to the Jerome flat. Her sister-in-law's ways drove her frantic, so she said. Her "slippy-come-sloppy ways" she called them—lying in bed 'till all hours of the morning, and sitting by the hour, reading silly books! She couldn't understand such habits, for the life of her!

Tonight Sally saw that she had something on her mind. There was a little frown between her brows, and her mouth, always straight and firm, was set with a sort of grim determination.

"You bring along the iced tea and that bowl of jelly, and we'll sit down and talk in peace," she said briskly. "I'm sorry I haven't anything but a pick-up supper for you."

"Pick-up supper!" exclaimed Sally. "Why, this is a feast!" She knew that her aunt expected her to say that. Aunt Emily was always apologizing for the meals she set upon her table, knowing full well that they were wonderful meals. She liked to be told that they were feasts and that there was no cooking in the world like her cooking.

There were cucumber rings, a plate of sugar cookies, half of an almond-cream cake on the little table in the dining room 'how, besides the chicken, the rolls, and the iced tea.

"I suppose I'd better ask her to lend me the money I've got to have before she gets started on her own affairs," thought Sally, when the meal was almost over. For when her aunt started to talk, there was no turning her aside from her subject.

"Aunt Emily," she was beginning when Aunt Emily opened her own lips and drowned her out.

"Well, Sally," she said. "I've made up my mind not to go back to school teaching this fall!"

Sally's dark blue eyes widened with astonishment. . . . Aunt Emily not going to teach school this fall. Why, it was unthinkable. Aunt Emily had been teaching school ever since Sally could remember.

"For goodness sake!" she gasped. "Why, what on earth are you going to do? Go to Europe?"

For years and years Aunt Emily had been promising herself a trip to Europe "to see a little something besides sign-boards and Ford cars," as she said tartly.

She shook her dark, glossy head now, as she pushed back her chair.

"No, indeed!" she replied. "I'm going to go into business—let's go out on the front porch and get a breath of fresh air. It's mighty hot in this room—the sun just bakes it all afternoon."

They went out and sat, side by side, on the top step, in the cool of the evening.

"I get so sick of looking at them," said Aunt Emily, who would have loved to own one herself.

Sally barely heard here. . . . If Aunt Emily was going into business, she told herself, she wouldn't dare ask her for the loan of that money. Aunt Emily would need every nickel of her money herself.

"And besides, I owe her fifty or sixty dollars now," thought Sally, unhappily.

"What are you going to do, Aunt?" she asked.

Aunt Emily laughed. "Well, nothing very grand," she said. "I'll probably fail at it, but then again, perhaps I won't. I'm going to turn this house into a wayside inn. . . . I'm going to start by serving chicken dinners on Sunday. Everybody tells me I'm a good cook."

"You are!" Sally assured her. "But you're a good school teacher, too! And school teaching is such a nice job—such a ladylike job."

Her aunt snuffed. "Yes, and I've been doing it for exactly 22 years, and I'm sick of it. I want something new—something that I'm not sure I can do. Something that isn't an old story!"

She seemed to bite down on the words, and through the blue-gray dusk, Sally could see her eyes snap with enthusiasm and energy.

"Yes sir-ee-ee!" she added, with a nod of her head. "Something that's going to keep me hopping!"

She turned to the girl, suddenly. "Want to take a chance with me?" she asked. "I have a notion I'm going to make money—not right at the start, of course, but later on."

Without a second's hesitation, Sally shook her head. "I'd love to but I can't," she said a bit wistfully. "You see, I'm sure of my job with Mr. Peevey—I'm sure of the $21 a week he gives me. And if you and I didn't make money at this wayside inn business, I don't know where I'd go to get a part-time job that would pay anything like $21 a week."

Her voice trailed off into silence. It would be far more pleasant to be out here with Aunt Emily than sitting in Mr. Peevey's office week after week, knowing that just across the hall Millie was doing her best to make John Nye fall in love with her. . . . and that was exactly what Millie would be doing!

"I wish I could come with you, Aunt Emily," she said again, and got up from the steps. "Well, I've got to run along. . . . It's almost time for Mother's hot milk and her sleeping powder."

"Hot milk! . . . Sleeping powder!" snorted her young-old aunt. "Stuff and nonsense! That's what it is! If she'd stir herself around and do a little work now and then she'd need any sleeping powder. She'd be glad to fall into bed at night and—"

"I've got to go!" Sally broke in sharply, and went. She wouldn't let anyone—not even Aunt Emily—say a word against her mother. Poor Mother! . . . Why, anyone could look at her and see that she wasn't well, with all that unhealthy fat and the puffiness under her eyes.

For a wonder, Beau and Millie were at home when Sally got there.

Mrs. Jerome sat with them at the dining room table. They had had their supper, and had a half can of sardines and some potato salad for Sally.

The potato salad was still in the pasteboard container in which Beau had brought it from the delicatessen. When Sally was not at home to get a meal the family always went to eat the delicatessen for what it wanted to eat.

Beau had been smoking numberless cigars. The ends of the cigars lay before him on a saucer, and he was reading an ad in the evening paper when Sally came into the room.

He looked up, grinned at her, and went on reading:

"—Nothing makes a man or girl so popular as knowing how to play a musical instrument. Learn to play a banjo, ukulele, mandolin or guitar, and be the life of the party wherever you go. You can buy one on the installment plan from—"

Sally interrupted him. "Beau!" she said to him, and there was despair in her voice. "PLEASE don't buy anything else on the installment plan! Look at the stuff we're trying to pay for now—the phonograph, and the radio. And it isn't any good now that we've got it!"

Beau looked from his mother to Millie. "You'd think she was paying for them to hear her rave, wouldn't you?" he asked. Beau always pretended that he was paying for everything in the flat. In his own mind, he was the head of an expensive and extravagant family.

Mrs. Jerome did not answer him. Neither did Millie. . . . They both knew who was paying for the radio and the phonograph.

It was not Beau, for all his brave talk. It was Sally, of course.

JACK MULHALL AT AMERICAN

"See You in Jail" Is Comedy-Drama Success.

America's army of potential jail-birds and law violators, numbering nearly half of the total population of the United States, will be joyful when it sees "See You in Jail," the comedy-drama now at the American theatre.

The people who are breaking the law consistently are the motorists of the country, and it happens that they are right and the law wrong, for improvements in automobiles and their drivers have come faster than improvement in traffic legislation. Of course justice for the motorist is only a small part of the lively theme of "See You in Jail," which was produced by Ray Rockett for First National and directed by Joseph Henabery.

TOKIO.—More than a hundred Formosan aborigines are reported to have been killed in a battle between two of the island tribes over a strange superstition. One of the tribes started on a hunt for wild boar, and during the hunt a violent storm arose. The hunters persisted in the hunt despite the storm.

The typhoon did much damage to the village of the second tribe, and this was blamed upon the hunters who had defied the god of the storm. The dispute which followed turned into a battle, finally ended by Japanese police.

BUCK JONES AT THE STRAND

Virginia B. Faire Also Featured in "Desert Valley."

Virginia Brown Faire, who appears as Mildred Dean in Buck Jones latest starring production, "Desert Valley," which opens a two-day run at the Strand theatre today, was the only woman on location in the Mojave desert, where exterior sequences were filmed. She said she felt perfectly safe on the desert with any one or all of the fifty members of the company to protect her against the possible attack of "desert rats," the human derelicts who rove the desert. She said she has been schooled in self-confidence and anyhow, she didn't want her mother to experience the hardships of a desert location.

"Desert Valley" is the story of a feud over a desert water supply. Jefferson Hoades, played by Malcolm Waite, controls the supply. Buck Jones as Montgomery Fitzsmith, a roving cowboy, finds himself an unwitting principal in the feud. After an exciting series of experiences, he saves Timothy Dean, father of the girl with whom he has fallen in love. Miss Faire gives a vivid portrayal of the fiery western girl who stubbornly refuses to admit her love for Montgomery until the final scenes.

Protest Tax on Banks.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 16.—A series of protests against Ohio's tax on national banks today had been voiced as a result of the tenth annual meeting of Group 9 of the Ohio Bankers association here.

Robert McEvilly, president of the organization, speaking before a banquet last night, urged that all Ohio bankers lend their support to the three National banks in Columbus which are bringing suit to test the state's power to tax national banks.

Choose Your Friends If You Wish Success

"How far you go depends upon whom you travel with" is an old Indian saying. The J. C. Penney Company has traveled in a quarter of a century from a tiny country store to a Nation-Wide Institution of 885 stores, serving millions of people, and their success has been due in great measure to the principles with which they chose to make the journey.

Performance-Instead-Of-Promises was one of their early traveling companions, and Truth-In-Advertising and A-Square-Deal-To-All-Alike have proved equally satisfactory friends.

These 885 stores are more than just places to sell yards of goods. They are monuments to the principle that the public appreciates honest dealing.

SOLON STUDIES FARM TROUBLE; CAN ADVANCE NO RELIEF PLAN

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16. — Congressman Cyrenus Cole of Iowa, was discussing the corn belt farmers' troubles. Himself from the very heart of the afflicted region, brought up on a farm, still the owner of one, deep investigators have been only part way to the bottom of it. Cole's examined it from bedrock clear to the surface. He's gifted also with a wonderful clarity of expression. He explains it all simply, yet as plainly as the alphabet. Listening to him, you soon begin to understand how and why western agriculture finds itself in a bad hole it's struggling so frantically to escape from.

THE only thing the Hawkeye state congressman is slow in getting around to is a prescription for the relief of the corn belt farmers' ills.

He isn't even very enthusiastic in endorsing others' prescriptions.

His diagnosis is admirable, but what's the remedy?

Finally, getting tired of waiting, I asked him:

"I can see, exactly, these things you're telling me about," I said, "but what's to be done about 'em?"

The representative sighed profoundly. "If I knew that, I could be president," he answered.

THIS remark wasn't quite as pessimistic as it may sound, however. Cole was, in fact, pessimistic only as to his own presidential prospects. He doesn't regard the farmer's future as so hopeless.

"This period of inflation is rather severe on us old fellows," he conceded, "but it's fine," he went on, "for the rising generation."

"We oldsters don't matter. We'll soon be dead, anyway."

"Now is the time for the young chaps to get started on the land while it's cheap, and they can pay for it, the way we did."

CONGRESSMAN COLE'S for farm relief, be it understood.

His contemporaries shouldn't get the impression that he's thrown in his lot with the rising generation, at his own generation's sacrifice.

The former's good luck is a theory that he consoles himself with, if he must. The latter's hard luck is a condition that he'll do his best to improve on, if anybody'll show him the right way to go about it.

Yet, with his very presidential chances depending on it, he has to own up that he hasn't been able to hit on a guaranteed hurry-up method.

"DID you read about the anarchist demonstration in Boston the other day?" inquired the Iowa congressman.

"Twenty-five thousand anarchists, according to the newspapers, gathered on the Common—on the biggest outpourings of anarchists in the history of the country."

"I was one of those anarchists."

"I was just out of church. So were about 24,900 others—just my kind of anarchists. At least, we all looked about alike. We had to do something, so we attended the demonstration."

"I believe there was some speaking, but most of us were mainly interested in the band concert."

"After that we went home, or wherever we happened to be visiting, as I was, and after the head of the family had said grace, we ate dinner. "Doesn't a demonstration like that make you tremble for the very foundation of this government?"

Physical education work of the Polish army and the Red Cross was shown at the recent Sanitary-Hygienic Exhibition held in connection with the Fourth International Military, Medical and Pharmaceutical congress at Warsaw.

Mrs. Lucas, wife of a tractor driver of Tonbridge, England, now holds the honors of her street, having recently given birth to her twenty-fourth child, while her neighbor, Mrs. Goldsmith, a railway man's wife, has only 23 children.

Unemployed in France receiving government aid are decreasing in number.

Locusts threaten to destroy sugar cane plants and fruit trees in parts of Mexico.

Hear Few Tales of Destitution in Mining Towns.

CHICAGO—Illinois miners, many of them with their truck gardens, and other means of keeping the wolf from the door, are bearing up well under what may develop into the longest soft coal strike in history.
A large number of the estimated 75,000 Illinois miners who walked off their jobs last April 1 after operators declined to continue to pay them the Jacksonville wage scale, have taken up farming or gone to the cities seeking employment.
Few tales of destitution have come from the coal mining towns. This is said to be largely due to the fact that the bank deposits were of record proportions just before the suspension.
Banks throughout the coal districts admit that in many cases individual accounts have dwindled but in the main there have been remarkably few bank or mercantile failures, indicating the miners are able to buy food and maintain themselves in somewhat the same style as that to which they were accustomed before the suspension.

Both Sides Hopeful.
Officials of the United Mine Workers claim a large number of the organized operators have agreed to pay the $7.50 minimum wage of the Jacksonville scale and been allowed to reopen.

The Coal Operators' association of Illinois insists it has lost few members but admits that "some of them" have left the organization.

With the fall buying season rapidly approaching, both sides are hopeful that something may be done but neither seems inclined to make the necessary concessions.

From the start operators through out the entire central competitive area, including Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Western Pennsylvania have insisted they cannot pay the Jacksonville scale and survive in competition with the non-union fields.

The miners have similarly declined to consider a reduction on the ground it would merely be an entering wedge toward further reductions, based upon possible wage cuts in non-union fields.

Efforts Fruitless.
Attempts by Governor Vic Donahey of Ohio and others to bring about a meeting between leading operators and officials of the United Mine Workers have been fruitless.

Rice Miller, head of the Illinois operators and chairman of the Miami conference which sought to draft an agreement to supplant the expiring Jacksonville scale, declared today the operators were between "the devil and the deep sea."

"If we pay the scale and reopen the mines," said Miller, "we will not be able to make money, generally speaking, in competition with the cheaper West Virginia and Kentucky non-union fields."

"If we don't pay the scale we lose because of the large investment we've got tied up. We declined to pay the Jacksonville scale because we thought this was as good a time as any to settle the entire problem."

Woman Gets Revenge.
BRANCHVILLE, N. J.—When a woman drove into Branchville to do some shopping and not caring to park on a busy street, decided to park on Van Sicle's property. The man ordered the woman to get out. When she refused he caused her arrest. But when Van Sicle led the way to police headquarters, Mrs. Montgomery followed closely and told police that the man was speeding. Both paid $2 fine and $3 costs. The woman was happy.

Finds "Use" for Teeth.
LOS ANGELES, Cal.—A set of false teeth valued at $850 never had a chance, according to Dr. Lee K. Stewart, who says that Mrs. Grace Magill had the only jaws the teeth would fit. But Mrs. Magill continued to spurn them, even after the judge ruled that Dr. Stewart had to be paid the $850. Finally the court clerk compassionately took them home for the children to play with.

LONDON TALKS TO AUSTRALIA BY WIRELESS

British Empire Now All
Linked By Direct
Telephone.

HIGH SPEED UNIT

Government Says Most Efficient Service
in World.

LONDON.—Great Britain is now in direct wireless telephonic communication with Australia, Canada, South Africa and India and before the end of the year it is stated that every part of the British Empire will be linked by the wireless telephone.

The government claims that theirs is the most efficient and extensive service in the world, for it is now possible for a London business man to telephone direct from his office either to Melbourne, Montreal, Cape Town or Bombay. Photograph, letters and checks can also be transmitted by a system of facsimile reproduction adapted to the new beam system which has just been inaugurated.

High Speed Engine.
Toward the end of next year high-speed wireless services to the United States, South America and between Canada and Australia will be in operation.

The British Post Office scheme of short wave beams wireless has taken four years to reach fulfillment.

The transmitting and receiving stations to India are at Grimsby and Skene, both cities on the North Sea coast. During the seven days test that has just been completed they maintained a service of 120 to 150 words a minute each way during an 18 to 21 hours a day.

The post office only stipulates that a service of 100 words a minute for a twelve hour day.

180,000 Words A Day.
"It is estimated that the capacity of the Indian Beam Service is about 180,000 words a day," said wireless officials to the International News correspondent. "During the monsoon period India is the worst country in the world for atmospheric interference, but this station has been able to work at high speed for hours on end and through the thick of it, which is remarkable testimony to the freedom from atmospheric that is obtained by the use of the beam receiving aerials." "Other Empire stations amply bear out this achievement. The high-speed capacity of the Australian circuit working both ways during four weeks in July and August was 701,200, 642,750, 816,286, and 983,032 words each week."

Southern Rhodesia is expected to produce 15,000,000 pounds of tobacco this season, which will be nearly double the record-breaking crop of last year.

Nearly one-half the apples eaten in England in the past year were grown in America.

Red itching blisters on baby's face healed by Resinol

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 19:—"My baby had eczema for three months and nothing seemed to do him any good until I tried your products. His cheeks were red and covered with blisters, and the itching was so annoying that he could not sleep. After reading your ad in the paper I purchased a jar of Resinol Ointment and a cake of Resinol Soap. Only a few applications stopped the itching entirely and within a week the redness was gone and his skin practically clear. Your ointment is really wonderful and I will praise it to everyone."
